

Sarah Smith is a Music Educator with the Eastern School District of Newfoundland and Labrador. In her eight years of teaching she has had the opportunity to teach all grade levels in a variety of musical contexts including choral, instrumental and classroom music. She currently holds a permanent position teaching K-6 classroom music in St. John's.

Sarah is an active member of the music community in St. John's. She is currently President of the Newfoundland and Labrador Music Special Interest Council, serves on the planning committee for the St. John's Rotary Music Festival and represents Newfoundland and Labrador on the Board of Directors for the Canadian Music Educators Association.

Sarah is also a member of many musical ensembles. She is a flutist with the Newfoundland Symphony Orchestra, sings with national and international award winning Lady Cove Women's Choir and is Associate Director of the Royal Newfoundland Regiment Military Band.
